LIST OF SPEAKERS

The View from A Federal Agency. Mary E. Clutter, National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C.

Biological Sciences Engine. Thomas S. Edgington, Chairman, Public Affairs Executive Committee, Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology and The Scripps Research Institute, La Jolla, California

Horizontal versus Vertical Regulation: Biotechnology policy in Europe and the United States. Rogier A.H.G. Holla, Technology and Policy Program, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge Agricultural Biology and Biotechnology: A Senatorial Paradigm. Senator Patrick J. Leahy and Michael D. Fernandez, The United States Senate, Washington, D.C.

Dymanics of interagency functions in biotechnology development: Will the Massachusetts model work? Fernando Quezada, Biotechnology Center of Excellence, Boston

Incentives, Opportunities and Challenges in modern biological research in twenty-first century: Will the United States of America compete and lead the world? Satish C. Tripathi, IIT Research Institute, Chicago and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge

Source: https://www.industrydocuments.ucsf.edu/docs/spnv0000